Dear Hawker de Havilland employee

Federal Court Orders

Today the Federal Court made further orders affecting all striking Hawker de Havilland employees.

Enclosed by way of service is a copy of the Orders made today. These Orders are binding on you. The Orders require striking employees to return immediately to normal duties.

The AMWU's lawyers have advised us and the Court that they do not represent you in these proceedings. Accordingly, we are obliged to recommend you consider getting independent legal advice in relation to these matters. We are also obliged to inform you that failure to comply with the Orders may have serious consequences, including potentially fines or imprisonment.

The Court has listed the full trial of the matter for up to three days commencing on 7 May 2008 at the Federal Court, 305 William Street, Melbourne. Issues to be addressed at the trial include the matters described in the application previously served on you. You are a party to those proceedings and you are entitled to attend and be legally represented.

The Court has also listed the matter for mediation on Tuesday, 15 April 2008 at the same address.

Yours faithfully

MINTER ELLISON
